LIMITS OF RELIGIOUS THOUGHT.

By the Rev. H. Longueville Mansel, B. D., reader Moral and Metaphysical Philosophy as Magdalou College, Oxford. 12mo., cloth. $1.1

The thiest defense of revealed religion since Butler's Analogy. It unites the highest metaphysical ability, with a sinewy and elequent ristories, and overthrows with their own weapons the etrougest advocates of modern skepeleism. The old fashinoid doctrines of graces are triumphantly defended against the theories of our speculative age.

CHESS! THE EXPLOITS AND TRIUMPHS IN EUROPE OF

PAUL MORPHY'S LATE SECRETARY.

EXTRACT FROM THE WORK.

Chess may be a game, a pastinee, a relaxation; but Chees has at times absorbed the faculties of the most intellectual of every caire. It numbers among its amateurs the greatest names o battle fields and turnose—it telle of warrans, peets pointers sculptors, statesmen, and Divines; it possesses a language and a interture of its own; and it has its temples on the occan, in the fortness, and by the fireside. Paul Morphy has vanquiched the Paiddins of the New and Old Worlds, and vaulted into the very throne of Labourdonness and Philder. As long as Gress shalled, bis name will be a household word, and his deeds be held in lastling memory.

Mr. Headley, after being corressed in public life for three year, has again returned to the field of liberature, in which he astroid a wide reputation. The subject he has first taken up is one well suited to his descriptive powers. The Life of flavel-left formalises everything picture sque and brilliant in description and thrilliant in the narration of deeds of arms. The first campaign of the young lieutenant in Burmah, the romantic and targic history of the English army in Afganistan, the rapidly a co-oding and terrible battles in the Pumpath, and last, the unparable in size of Locknow and Haschek's march of first and of each to its ribef, are nere described with that vividness and life the barset rape. "Nepoleon and his Marshale," and "Washington and his Generals." The friends of Havelock's family have placed in his I and smaterials that no other person in the cample of the first harden without men of the formal description of them could not be furnished in England; and Mr. Headley was compelled to send to India to make the collection complete.

The ardert young soluter, the uncompromising Christian, and the incomparable general, are taken up in succession, while around each is grouped the stupendous scenery, the oriental magnifier er, and the tremendous battles that have characterized the comparis of the English army in India.

ON THE BASIS OF THE LAYEST EDITION OF THE OPEN CONVERSATIONS-LEXICON.

Illustrated with Maps and numerous Wood Engravings.

To be published in Monthly Parts, price Twenty Cents each, until the whole is computed; it being conflictly expected that the Work will be comprised in about Eighty Monthly Parts, furning Six or Seven Volumes, similar in appearance to the volumes of "Chambers's Information for the People."

This will be the cheapest Encyclopasia ever published, and one of the most comprehenders. It will be expressly a Dictionary, in one Alphabet, as dictinguished, on the one hand, from a cluster of lengthy treatness, and on the other from a combination of dictionaries of special branches of knowledge.

The aim of the editors has been that for every object, person and thing, natural political and social, likely to be inquired after, there should here be, in its alphabetical place, a representative article fitted to give information, and in working out this idea, it will be found that there are many heads of a conversational character never before admitted into works of the same class, but all of them interesting and important.

It will at the same time be amply comprehensive in the usual branches of Geography, Biography, Natural History, and the Scances.

Chambers's Encyclopadia has been under careful preparation for several years, and is, for the mean time, the crowning contri-

Beichees.

REPRINTED FROM THE ANCIENT VATICAN MS.

"The biblical critics among your readers will be gratified to learn that the Vatican Manuscript, the most famous codes of the original Scriptures of the New Testament, will shortly be made available to achoiars at a reasonable price. The Vatican Manuscript, edited by Cardinal Mai, contains not only the New Testament, but also the Septiagint Version of the Old Testament, but also the Septiagint Version of the Old Testament is and the fifth the New Testament; and the only means of obtaining the Roman edition is by purchasing the entire work at the cost of about $50. The Codex Varicanus of the New Testament will soon be printed in London, verbatim, from the Roman edition recently published, at the price of only testive shillings per copy. This manuscript is believed to be the most succent in existence, and modern Biblical critics assign its date to the middle of the fourth century. Its history is involved in impose trable obscurity, and no one can tell at what period it was fire placed on the shelves of the Vatican; but early in the saxiesuch century it was generally known throughout Europe as the most venerable manuscript of the New Testament. It has always be n jealously guarded, and its contents concealed from evident gaze. When Dr. Bentley contemplated an estition of the Greek Testament in 1721, be visited Rome, hoping to obtain permission to collate the Codex Vaticanus, but was demied access to the manuscript. In 1843, Cardinal Mai showed Prof. Tischendorf the printed text now recently published. More than thirty years sloce, the writer was favored with a view of this ancient manuscript. THE AMERICAN GUANO COMPANY

SUMMER-HILL, Cayngs Co., N. Y., Sept. 24, 1957.

Ist.rr. Love Ist.ro, Dec. 20, 1858.

My DEAR SIR: I send you a sample of corn grown with Am. Guano, on land that was worn out, which speaks for itself. In some parts of the field where the worm did not injure it, the corn was he avy.

So well satisfied am I of the value of American Guano, from what I have seen on my own and adjoining farms, that I shall use larger quantity next Spring.

I have no doubt that it will supersede all other kinds of manare that farmers are obliged to purchase.

Yours, truly,

CORNELIUS J. SERGEN.

C.S. MARCHALL, Pres't of the American Guano Co.

equaled. To my knowledge, in this country.

A. J. BERGEN.

C. S. Marshall. Esq., Prest of the American Gunno Co.

Dras Sir:—I used a small quantity of Am. Gusno last year on various crops, and the result was as womerful that I consider it worth communicating to you. My crop of oars, alknowl it worth communicating to you. My crop of oars, alknowl it med in tower one bundred pennels of Am. Guano to the acre, was very far alread of the field next adjuding, in which I used Peruvian Guano, the yield being more than three times as large. I tried the Am. Guano, also, on yellow corts and sweet corn, side by indee with P-revian Guano and other fertilizers. Is both, the results from Am. Guano were very much larger than from the other manures, some of the sweet corn having fentices rows to the ear, the large st cars I ever saw.

On peas, postates, and eabbages, the result was the same; and I consider the American Guano the best fertilizer I ever used. Yours, respectfully.

MOUNT PLEASANT PLACE, NEWARR, N. J., Feb. 2, 1859.

C. S. Marshall, esq., Prest, of the Am. Guano Co.:

Drag Six: As the Am. Guano has but recently been introduced, and but few of our farmers know about the article, I will say to all such, by using two hundred or two hundred and 6fly pounds per acre of the Am. Guano, they will be sure the first year to harvest wenty five per cout more, beside benefitting the land for future crops.

I speak advisedly, having had, the last season, much experience

Securatorum, West Laby, Dec 3t, 1858.

C. S. Marshall, Red. Prest, of the American Guan C. S.

Dran Six:—The corn I send you is a portion of the product from about easty acres of land on which I used a lattice over three tons of American Guano. The land, although naturally send, has been work declong without manures that my neighbors and I could not get a crop.

This corn is considered as fine here that I have been applied to for seed from it; still it is common corn increased to size by the use of your Guano. As you will observe, the whole cars are entirely covered with corn over the tips. For this land it would have east me over two thousand declars for other manure and putting it on, which would have every much reduced the profise of the crop was much better filled and more of it.

The feet weighing slateen and a half pounds is the common blood beet, grown with the American Guano. I have sever been equaled, to my knowledge, in this country.

Truly yours,

BERGEN.

pounds per some of the Am. Guano, they will be sure the first year to harvest twenty-five per cent more, beside benefiting the land for future crops.

I speak advisedly, having had, the last season, much experience in the use of it on corn, wheat, grass, cucumbers and meious, in all with squally beneficial results.

In order to test its relative value with the Peruvian, I planted four acres of corn, three of which I manured with the American and one acre with the Peruvian Guano, not using any other masture on either.

I found, after the corn had come up, and until six or eight inshes high, that manured with the Peruvian looked the best, but, soon after, there was no perceptible difference in the growth of the stalk. But, at earing and harvesting time, that manured with American Guano showed a decided superiority in the number and size of the ears.

I had thirsteen grains of a new variety of corn, sent me by a friend, planted with Am. Guano, using no other manure; and from the ef rais of 21.875 kernels, carefully counted.

I used the Am. Guano on Spring wheat, laid down with elever and timothy seed. The grass seed took finely, and other the wheat was harvested, every plant of the clover headed one, a result I never before obtained with land highly manured with barn yard manure.
